on
"Role of Veterinary Medicine in One Health Approach"
Academy of Sciences, ALBANIA
(May 27, 2022)

INVITATION

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Organizing Committee, we are pleased to invite you to participate in the international conference on "Role of Veterinary Medicine in One Health Approach" to be held in Tirana (ALBANIA) on May 27, 2022. The Academy of Sciences of Albania organizes this conference in collaboration with the Agricultural University of Tirana.

This conference will be held in a combination of online and onsite. The meeting will have participants from other universities and institutions from the host country and different European/Non-European universities.

The conference's main objective is to discuss the role and place of veterinary medicine in one health approach in early detection of emergent and re-emergent zoonosis. This conference will also provide excellent opportunities for debate and discussion among various specialists, researchers, and scientists.

It is a great pleasure for us to invite you to participate in this conference and to ask you to submit a paper or poster. We are looking forward to meeting you on May 27, 2022, in Tirana, Albania.
